

I understand that some people are bothered by the breast exposed during the finale of the superbowl halftime show. I was much more outraged that Kid Rock wore an american flag as a shirt. He then took it off and threw it down. If we are disgracing our contry buy throwing our flag to the ground, then who really cares about a bare breast. We are nothing without our flag. Our flag stands for what we are and the rules we live by.